

The Illinois State Seal of Biliteracy

Students Guide

Are you bilingual, studied a language other than English or speak another language at home?

You may be eligible to earn the Illinois State Seal of Biliteracy on your high school diploma and transcript.

What is the State Seal of Biliteracy?

It is an award presented at graduation in recognition of attaining a high level of proficiency in English and in one or more additional languages. You also earn COLLEGE CREDIT at public colleges and universities in the state of Illinois.

Who is the intended recipient of the Seal?

High school graduates who have a heritage language other than English and English-speaking students who have studied a new language other than English are the intended recipients of this distinction. Bilingualism is an asset to be celebrated!

How do I get the Seal?

The high school where you attend and graduate from must register to participate in the state's program every year. Show your English proficiency via any of the state-approved methods. You can submit a portfolio or take an approved test, depending on which other language you speak.

Want more information?

Ask your high school's counseling department and/or World Language department and let them know that you speak another language! Or send an email to biliteracy@isbe.net with any questions.

Why did Illinois establish the state seal of biliteracy?

- ✓ To encourage the study of world languages.
- ✓ To officially certify attainment of biliteracy.
- ✓ To provide employers with a method of identifying multilinguals.
- ✓ To provide universities with an additional method to recognize applicants seeking admission and language placement.
- ✓ To prepare students with 21st century skills.
- ✓ To recognize the value of world language and native language instruction.
- ✓ To strengthen intergroup relationships, affirm the value of diversity, and honor the multiple cultures and languages of a community!

The Illinois State Seal of Biliteracy

Background

The Illinois State Seal of Biliteracy is an award presented at graduation in recognition of attaining a high-level of proficiency in English and in one or more other languages. It is officially designated on a student's transcript and high school diploma.

This award is intended to include students who speak a language other than English at home as well as those who are completing a course of study in a world language through high school. Being bilingual is an asset for everyone.

Being bilingual is a valuable skill in today's global society. Language curriculums that guide students toward the Seal of Biliteracy encourage students to use their language skills rather than just learn about a language. The Seal gives students something tangible to strive for as they work to learn new languages and/or maintain their home language during their studies. You can encourage and incentivize your students' language studies by establishing and promoting a program like the Illinois State Seal of Biliteracy. The most important thing you can do is establish a culture in your school that recognizes and values diverse languages and cultures.

In Illinois, the seal also translates into Foreign Language course credit at public colleges and universities.

Illinois accepts a variety of proficiency exams or portfolio options for students to demonstrate proficiency in English and subsequent languages. The approved language exams are listed on our website. Contact biliteracy@isbe.net for assistance.

How do I start a program? What are the yearly expectations and deadlines? How do we physically award the seal at graduation? What support is there for districts, teachers, and students pursuing this honor? All questions can be answered by visiting our website.
